

DEAN'S LEADERSHIP CERTIFICATE

Spring: Mar 15, 2013 - May 3, 2013

Fall: Oct 1, 2013 - Nov 14, 2013

Soft skills are difficult to learn and can take years to hone and develop. Get the hard facts on soft skills by earning a Clemson University MBA Leadership Certificate. This adult learning program focuses on the competency areas most requested by our corporate partners and embraces the philosophy of appreciation for position, people and potential. This is a 6-week, online, interactive course with work-related field assignments and sharing of success stories.

Your Course Leaders

Two Experienced Corporate and Executive Coaches

Gail DePriest

Gail DePriest is the Director of Corporate Relations and Leadership Development at the Clemson University. Gail is a certified Master Coach and teaches an MBA class on Strategic Career Management. For over fifteen years she has advised Fortune 500 companies during times of transition and helped top ranked business schools create career management programs. In a private practice she coaches leaders for top performance and is a contributing writer for the South Carolina Business Journal.

Kathy Kegley

Kathy Kegley is founder and principal consultant in Synchlora LLC, a consulting business dedicated to developing human potential at the individual, team and organizational levels. Kathy holds a doctorate in Computer Engineering, and she is adjunct faculty at Clemson University where she teaches the MBA course Creativity and Innovation in Business. Kathy has over fifteen years of experience designing engaging learning experiences for adults, and is the recipient of the 2004 Innovision Innovation in Education award for instructional design.

Bottom Line Details

Register Now. Limited Availability

This is a 6-week, online, interactive course with work-related field assignments and sharing of success stories. Includes access to our private, online classroom and all materials.

Registration $595

Spring: March 15, 2013 - May 3, 2013

Fall: October 1, 2013 - November 14, 2013

CLICK HERE TO REGISTER

Clemson at the Falls
55 East Camperdown Way
Greenville, SC

Our aim is to provide a high quality program that fulfills our mission and exceeds the goals of our clients. In the event that a course is rescheduled or canceled, we will work with our clients for a mutually agreeable solution. If enrollment minimums are not met for a course, we reserve the right to offer complete refunds or reschedule for a more appropriate time frame. We offer a money back guarantee. If you are not 100% satisfied at the end of the program, you will receive a complete refund.

MANAGING SELF

It begins with you. Before you can inspire or lead anyone, you must fully understand and manage yourself. Find out more about what motivates you while learning to create a framework for managing the chaos. Topics include self-awareness, time management and stress management.

BEYOND SELF

Understand the importance of supporting others—your direct reports, peers and upper management. Increase your emotional intelligence, tell a compelling story about your project and make creative contributions to your organization. Topics include emotional intelligence and creativity.

STAYING ACCOUNTABLE

What do others need from you? Learn to prepare for more effective conversations with colleagues and management providing updates, gaining clarifications on expectations, and goals. Topics include consultative reporting, reputation management and coaching practices.